SKIN SCIENCE

HOW SELF TAN WORKS

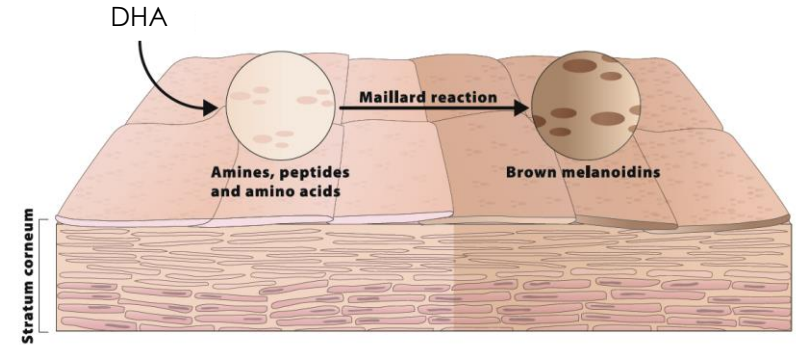

ST.TROPEZ
YOUR ULTIMATE TAN

DIHYDROXYACETONE (DHA) & MAILLARD REACTION

The main active self tanning ingredient used is Dihydroxyacetone (DHA). St.Tropez uses a 100% natural forms of DHA which is derived solely from vegetable sources. Combined with a unique blend of skin conditioning ingredients, for natural looking, long lasting tans.

The skin browning effect happens when DHA reacts chemically with the amino acids, proteins and peptides found in the upper epidermis (top layer) of the skin producing different tones of coloration from yellow to brown known as the Maillard reaction.

Each person has a different level of these amino acids which is why self tan development can be different on each person. The color develops over a period of 4-8 hours and will gradually fade in conjunction with the skins normal exfoliation process.
